United Church

"Peace on Earth." How can we even talk of it, when the whole world is aflame with war. The cry of war was louder than the angel's song of peace, even when it was first sung.

"Strange prophecy! If all the screams
Of all the men that since have died
To realize war's knifed dreams
Had risen at once in one vast tide
The choral song of that vast multitude
Had been overpowered and lost amid the uproar rude."
Yet the angels sing on, of ultimate peace, "among men of good will." The original Hebrew song was written in triple parallelism.

"Glory . . . to God . . . in the highest,
Peace . . . good will . . . on the earth."

Wars come from self will, and good will goes to pieces on selfishness. Nurse Cavell was right. "Patriotism is not enough." The word "internationalism" has been in the dictionary only in our lifetime. We are still prone to race prejudice, and wholesale racial condemnations. Following the great fire of London, Christopher Wren had a plan to rebuild. Selfish property owners spoiled the plan, and perpetuated dark streets, instead of the beauty that might have been. So, too, has selfish nationalism spoiled the Divine plan of Universal Brotherhood.

For a while, at Christmas, the barriers come down. The child heart within us kindles. That grand fairy, good old Santa, personifies a reality, the spirit of good will. Angels still sing to those who have ears to hear. Only revealing graces and boasting war lords fail to reverence the Babe, the Prince of Peace, whose star is Hope, whose sceptre is Love, and whose kingdom is the child-like heart.

Frank Hardy

The Semahmo Sun will be published early next week.

Copy for both news and advertising must be in as early as possible in order that we can go to press Tuesday afternoon.

Correspondents and advertisers are therefore asked to hand in their copy early.

Turkey Shoot

"Bigger and better than ever," declared all present at the Legion of Frontiersmen's turkey shoot at the Thrift road range last Wednesday. About twenty high scorers bagged their Christmas dinners during the day. The following lists prize winners and events:

Winners of shotgun targets: E. Colin James, H. R. Hassell, L. Ahlsten, R. K. Hargraves, G. M. Thair, C. Bell, G. H. Anderson, D. G. Bowdick, Mrs. Plunkett, C. W. McInnes, Mrs. C. Barge and R. Hood.

Competition winners: lucky target, Mr. F. Bird; mystery bull, Mr. E. Hassall; blind, Mrs. Barge; lucky target, Mr. T. Tucker; mystery bull, Mr. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Lee will spend Christmas at Langley Prairie and are later in the week expected to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Reid at Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Merklin and family are expected from Seattle to spend Christmas in White Rock.

Gordon Radford, with the R.C.N. at Esquimalt, is home on a two week's leave.

The Pro Rec class on Monday, December 15, was very well attended, considering there had been no official word as to when the classes were to be resumed. Everyone seemed so glad to be back for their exercises. On Thursday, 18, a social evening was spent. In the absence of the president and vice-president, Mrs. Shaw was called upon to act as chairman. We welcomed all present and spoke of the grand co-operation which existed between the members, both old and young, saying they were one big family on class nights. The girls gave a display of exercises first and looked real smart in their work. Then the boys did their jumping and tumbling. We can well be proud of our boys for their physical display. Mrs. Baker played for the community singing, and all those present had their vocal chords exercised, with Mrs. Shaw leading them in the singing. Chanters in which side could sing the loudest, while the girls doubled in number, the boys had the most powerful voices, but a critic couldn't have called it singing by any means. Refreshments were served and to these good justice was given.

Christmas Greetings were exchanged by Jack and Mrs. Ruben, and from all Pro Rec members to you, a Merry Christmas.

Christmas Message

Presbyterian Church

The Christmas Season is with us again and we hear many asking "Are we going to have a real Christmas this year?"

That will depend entirely on the people themselves, for there cannot be a Christmas world, nor a Christmas home, where un-Christians people dwell. It is CHRISTMAS IN THE HEART that puts Christmas in the world or in the home or in our lives.

There once stood a man on London Bridge for a whole day trying to give away sovereigns and only two persons would accept them. Equally foolish has been this world, indeed, so equally foolish is this Canada of ours today, in refusing THE GREATEST GIFT OF ALL GIFTS—GOD'S CHRISTMAS GIFT.

Christmas is the season of Love—God so Loved that He gave. No gift is a Christmas gift that does not express the love of the giver. There is only one way for this world or its inhabitants to be really Christmas, and that is to be Christ-like, for every devotee becomes like the deity he worships.

No one of us all have ever seen "the greatest gift of all" who has not seen and known the heart of God, the love of His heart—the heart of His love. The Cross of Calvary was the only means open to God whereby He could show us His love, and in that act of God we see infinite love. Apart from that act, a boundless ocean of love would have remained for ever shut up and concealed in the heart of God; but now through that act God's Love has found an ocean channel—through God's Christmas Gift we may enjoy a truly Christmas Christmas.

In wishing each other A MERRY CHRISTMAS let us not forget or despise GOD'S CHRISTMAS GIFT.

ALEX. T. MACINTOSH.

Girl Guide Notes

The last meeting of the Girl Guides for 1941 was held in the Legion rooms on Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. Mrs. Getford, the District Commissioner for Westminster, was present and enrolled three new Guides, Valencia Hugh, Ruth Norris and Lorraine McNally.

Plans were completed for the Christmas party which is to be held at Helen Russell's home.

In the New Year the girls will again meet on Mondays at 4 p.m. The first meeting to be held on January 5, as this is a more satisfactory time. A full attendance of Guides is expected.

The Guides and their Captain wish all their friends a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Currie, Johnston road, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Rita Muriel, to Mr. James Cumisky, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Cumisky of Cloverdale. The wedding will take place early in the new year.

The Friday evening weekly prayer service will be held this week at the United church.

Miss Geraldine Stephens has found employment in New Westminster.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Cunningham and family will spend Christmas in Chilliwack.

Ambulance Class

To Start Jan. 2

At a meeting held in the Canadian Legion hall, December 19, it was decided to hold St. John's Ambulance classes on Wednesday and Fridays, commencing Friday, January 2, 1942, at 8 p.m.

These classes will take up first aid and gas precautions and full courses are anticipated. Men will register with Mr. W. Bradshaw, plier camp, and women with Miss Doris Hanslow, at the Fashion Centre, as soon as possible.

Those already holding certificates will qualify for a higher degree. No expense incurred, with the exception of a price of a book, if not already obtained.

Only bright spot on White Rock's streets during the last week's unofficial blackout of street lights, was in front of the Park Theatre. The floodlights recently installed by Mr. G. Graham were greatly appreciated by all during this period.

The "No Christmas Card Fund" for the Red Cross in White Rock grows rapidly. Mr. E. R. Streiffeldt added to their cheque the amount they intended to spend on decorating their store. Others are eliminating all Christmas greetings cards and thereby increasing their donations. Added to the list this week are Mr. and Mrs. J. Ormsby Lee.

Christmas Message

The Carol singers gather round our door.

With praise they sing of Peace, Goodwill Toward Men,
The Yuletide bells ring out with merry chime,
Proclaim anew, the birth in Bethlehem!

'Twas long ago, this angel message came,
Bearing good tidings of a newborn King.
'Arise and sing! Ye men of every land Declare the Christ is here, led by the star!

Think not of names of worldly gifts today,
But giving of one's self as man to man.
Some kindly heart to ease a hungry little,
The gift divine, God's universal plan.

—ROBERTA E. MAY,
White Rock, B. C.

Display of Work By Institute

Reflecting the wonderful work being undertaken by the local Women's Institute, is the V Bundles display in the Rogers' Grocery window.

The exhibit includes made-over clothing, quilts, and knitted wear, made exclusively from old or discarded clothing.

Large as is the display, it represents but a fraction of the work accomplished by the White Rock sewers.

On Monday of this week the White Rock Institute shipped six boxes of clothing, 350 garments in all, to the "V Bundles."

The Institute is still asking for donations of cast-off clothing and materials of all kinds for the manufacture of more clothing for the bombed-out families of Britain.

Mrs. T. Hosler will spend the holidays in Edmonton with her husband, whose regiment is stationed there.

Donald Munro, who is in R.C.A. F. training in Toronto, expects to spend Christmas with his parents in White Rock.

No Illuminated Tree

Most cities are eliminating decorative street lighting this year in response to a request by the Dominion authorities so as to conserve wire, electricity for vital needs and to bring home to the people that there is a war on.

The Surrey Chamber of Commerce have decided to co-operate in this respect by not putting up the decorated tree in White Rock or the street lights in Cloverdale. The equipment has been safely stored away for future years when the war is won.

The Army and Navy Veterans are having a Christmas tree at their hall on December 30 at 1:30 p.m. So come all you kiddies and see what Santa has for you.

This is for children up to 12 years of age, of members of the Army and Navy Veterans and Ladies' Auxiliary. There will be candy and oranges and fun aplenty.

Mrs. George Hodgson of Sunny-side has recovered from her recent illness and was shopping in White Rock on Friday.

Isabel MacKenzie, who spent the last week in bed, was out again on Saturday.

Christmas Message

Anglican Church

Dear Parishioners and Friends:

Through the medium of the local paper I extend to all the Best Wishes for A Happy Christmas and a Prosperous 1942. As we all now lie under the shadow of war, let us with true thankfulness remember our less fortunate brethren to whom Christmas will only be recognized, by the Spiritual significance of this great anniversary.

The Prince of Peace, who at this season was born, still offers to the world His peace. The salvation of the present nation can only be accomplished by our own wholehearted recognition of this shining offer, and our acceptance, by humbly returning to observe and perform the principles which He set to us, namely, to love Him with all the force of our being and to love our fellowman in simplicity and love. In this way, only may we hope for a just and lasting peace.

Praying God's richest blessings on you all,
I remain, sincerely yours,

W. R. JEFFCOATE

There'll Always Be A Christmas

Like a beacon light down through the ages shines the spirit of Christmas. No fog can dispel its gleam—no cynic can dull its radiance—no mad oppressor can trample its meaning into nothingness. In a world gone mad with malice, the message rings clear as the Christmas chimes, "Love is stronger than hate".

In spite of trouble and stress, Christmas means Light victorious over Darkness and Hope triumphant over Despair. Though the struggle is centuries old and though the battle still rages on, it is eternally written "There'll always be a Christmas". In spite of man's weakness and shortcomings there will ever be alive in humanities soul the teachings of Him who gave to the world such messages as: Love thy neighbour and "Peace on earth, goodwill toward men".

And in these troubled times, when the most precious values of life are under challenge, let us look up to the stars for solace. As we all plead for nobility of purpose and unity in the cause of righteousness, let us remember that the noblest rule for unity ever prescribed for humankind was uttered by Him who died to save an erring world; "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you".

Was your name in the paper when you last entertained? If not, why not? We cannot be the uninvited guest at every social function, so complete your duty as a host and tell the Semiahmoo Sun all about it. We want to know and so do your friends.

Laurier Home Becomes National Historic Site

Inside and out, the home of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at St. Lin, Que., has been restored as closely as possible to the condition in which it stood on the day 100 years ago when the great Canadian statesman was born within its humble walls. Decorated and furnished in the best possible taste with authentic furniture and materials belonging to the period and typical of French Canadian handicraft, the house is a memorial to French Canada of a century ago as well as to its great leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Dedicated as a National Historic Shrine in the presence of Prime Minister Mackenzie King and other national figures, the Laurier house contains many treasures of French-Canadian art and handicraft. Old furniture of several parts of the province; textiles from Isle-aux-Canards, Charlevoix County; other articles, made about the time Sir Wilfrid was born, from the Isle d'Orléans. The interior walls, covered with hand-made linen woven in Quebec, make an admirable background for the furnishings and pictures. Among the many clock with wooden movement, cast iron stove with two decks, large loom for weaving, two spool beds, a "table bascule" with reversible top and brightly colored ed handmade rugs and representative paintings by Arthur Lismer. The exterior of the house has been renovated and the building has been moved back into the centre of the property which has been levelled and beautified. A large boulder bearing a bronze tablet serves as a monument to Sir Wilfrid. These pictures of the Laurier home at St. Lin, which is less than 37 miles from Montreal by Canadian Pacific Railway, show: The front of the house, top left; 19th century sofa in living room, top right; old furniture in ground-floor bedroom, lower left, and, lower right, old-time butter churn, spinning wheel and spool holder.

The management of the Park theatre announces that matinees will be held every Wednesday and Saturday afternoon beginning at 2 p.m. The theatre will continue to operate every evening as usual.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Army & Navy Veterans, White Rock, will be held at headquarters on January 8, at 2 p.m. The business being nominations of officers for the ensuing year.

The sewing meetings for "V Bundles" will be postponed until after the Christmas holidays.

Urgent calls are being sent out for volunteers to serve in the following sections of the Red Cross: First aid; food, canteen workers and office administration. Women who have had V.A.D. or nursing are particularly needed. It is likely that local units will also be speeded up owing to increasing dangers during blackouts.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

PHOTOGRAPHIC CHRISTMAS CARDS

Best Christmas Wishes

Photographic Cards are the most personal form of greeting message. One of your valued snapshots and a simple greeting card kit will enable you to make attractive cards like this.

THESE are days when all camera fans are busy on, or thinking about, their Christmas cards. So many ideas come to mind for really individual cards. Humorous cards, serious cards, big imposing cards, or friendly little ones, and literally dozens of possibilities for each type give you the chance to select the one that fills your requirements.

The best Christmas cards are made from pictures taken especially for the purpose. This holds true whether you create your card "from the ground up"—picture, greeting, and all—or whether you use one of the various types of card mountings and folders that are on the market. The picture should be special—planned for this specific purpose—and it should have some reference to the season.

Some of the most clever and individual cards have the greeting right in the picture. For example, a "Merry Christmas" can be trampled out on a large clear bank of snow. You can letter a large placard, break a hole through the center and let the family's youngest member put his head through—with a big Christmas smile. If your youngster is at the age for alphabet blocks, you might set up the blocks to spell out the greeting—and have him sitting beside them, with another block in his hand, as if he did it all by himself. Photograph the scene you choose, and there's your Christmas card picture, all ready for use.

Another method is to concentrate your energies on making a good picture, and leave the matter of adding the greeting to your photofinisher. Simple greeting kits are available if you do your own printing—or you can have the prints made for you.

Your picture should always include one or more members of your family, or your house, or something personal and individual that your friends will recognize. Even if the card includes just a group picture of the family—the most recent that you have made—it would still be a greeting far superior to any conventional card. And, of course, it is a lot more satisfying to send out a clever card that you have created yourself.

Christmas is not far off, so get into action at once. Select your idea—a simple one is often the most attractive—and personalize your photographic card.

Christmas Message

Mary Baker Eddy writes: "The basis of Christmas is the rock, Christ Jesus; his fruits are inspiration and spiritual understanding of joy and rejoicing,—not because of tradition, usage, or corporeal pleasures, but because of fundamental and democratic truth, because of the heaven within us. The basis of Christmas is love loving his enemies, returning good for evil, love that 'suffereth long, and is kind.' This 'fundamental and demonstrable truth' can be so lived and loved that the glow of its joy and sweetness will enrich all our human activities at this season.
The understanding of the spiritual significance of Christmas can be expressed in many of the little human ways which are considered necessary at this time. Love never separates. The loving heart finds many ways to express its tenderness—in quietness, serenity, cheerfulness, hope, and faith, cheering and comforting those who have been faced with difficult problems.
These are the gifts we can bring,
not only when Christmas reminds us to do, but all through the year."
—"The Christian Science Monitor."

Until further notice it is deemed wise to hold Red Cross meetings in the afternoons. Next meeting, second Monday in January at 2:30
